Rev. Hartland Gifford announced the annual meeting of the Andover Council of Churches last week that formal dedication of the first unit of the new Faith Lutheran Church building will be held Sunday, Sept. 10 at 4 p.m.

Police are on the prowl for vandals who have been removing reflectorized street signs from their posts at numerous spots about town.

The signs, which are made by Ralph Sharpe, police department maintenance man, are frequently removed within a day or two of installation. The signs are worth $5 to $6 apiece.

Irving E. Rogers, 51 Sunset Rock Rd., complained to the Selectmen Monday the excavation of gravel from a Winchester Development Corp. sub-division abutting his land is creating a nuisance in the neighborhood. He said that dust from the excavation site and sand from uncovered trucks leaving the location detract from the value of his property.

Contractor George DeVries said Wednesday that his company has not excavated from the acreage off Ballardvale Road for three to six weeks and that it has been taking small amounts from there periodically. He added that residential construction in the area will begin "very soon."

Meanwhile the manager has been asked to check into conditions.

The pastoral supply committee at West Parish Church will present a candidate for the minister's position there at the June 25 morning worship service. The congregation will vote immediately afterward.

Elmer G. Stroud, 16 County Rd., was fined $45 in Lawrence District Court Monday for operating a vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Stroud was stopped on Main St. early Monday when Patrolman Robert Parker noticed the erratic motion of the Stroud car.

The Eagle-Tribune Associates honored John P. S. Doherty of 29 Juniper Rd. Monday on the occasion of his 50th anniversary with the Eagle-Tribune Publishing Co. Doherty is advertising director.

Chelmsford has announced an 11% increase in its tax rate, which puts the rate at $111, the highest in that community's history. One reason: no free cash in reserve for reduction of the rate.

SCALE MODEL view of the design for the new Bancroft School created by Architect William D. Warner. The outside walls of the contemporary building will be of colored pumice block and tongue and groove planking. The school is designed in such a way that it can be used for conventional, team or large group instruction, to the left of the entrance are the kitchen and cafeteria and to the right, the gymnasium and kindergarten units. Classrooms are arranged in the center of the building and areas for art, science projects and the like, in two towers shown at the rear in this photograph.

A School Is Born

Bancroft Design Revealed

A scale model of the design for the new Bancroft Elementary School have been delivered to the town manager's office, providing the first three-dimensional look officials have had of the contemporary building Architect William D. Warner is planning for Southeast Andover.

The large school will house from 500 to 600 pupils, but it does not seem overwhelming because of a variety of gable, hip and pyramid roofs which give the impression that the school is made up of a collection of small buildings. Natural light is provided for several classrooms and the cafeteria through skylights in a number of these roofs.

Building Chairman Robert Lloyd said this week, "It is an exciting building. I think it will give children a real education in environment. . . It is not just a building; it is an education."

Warner, a Providence, R. I. architect, has planned that load bearing exterior walls will be constructed of colored pumice block and that non-bearing walls will be of tongue and groove planking treated with a preservative stain. The roof will be of asphalt shingles.

The site will not be barren. The school will be virtually hidden from the neighborhood by trees, Lloyd reports. He added that the water department's Donald Bassett has cooperated with Warner in preservation of the site, saving as many trees in the area of the Bancroft Reservoir construction project as feasible.

There will be three access roads leading to the school and a parking lot that will be concealed by a low earth embankment.

Architect Warner has designed one other elementary school of a similar type to the one designed for Andover - the Gordon School in East Providence, R. I. His plans for that school won one of 11 honor awards presented by the American Institute of Architects in the year of its completion.

The AIA award is the highest professional recognition given for architectural merit.

The awards jury said of Warner's building: (it is) "a noteworthy example of appropriate scale and a fine expression of a direct use of simple, inexpensive materials." The multi-unit school complex was described as "a community of spaces well fitted to site."

The Gordon School has also won awards from the National School Boards Assn., the Boston Arts Festival and the Rhode Island AIA. Warner won a prize in 1966 for his design for the Westminster Congregational Society Church (Unitarian) of East Greenwich, R. I. at the 37th annual Conference on Religious Architecture held in San Francisco. The conference is sponsored by the National Council of Churches, the Guild for Religious Architecture and the American Institute of Architects.

Conference judges selected four churches of contemporary design for awards, after expressing criticism of "churches that look like

Board Delays Action On Rail Subsidy

The Selectmen this week considered, but decided against moving the date for a planned summer Town Meeting forward to give members a chance to vote before June 30 on whether or not they are willing to subsidize the MBTA in order to maintain train service to Andover beyond that date.

The B&M Railroad has ICC approval for its petition to discontinue passenger service into this area on that date.

The board weighed the pros and cons of rushing through plans for the Bancroft School presentation which is the prime item on the agenda for the summer meeting, and going to Town Meeting without the bids Town Manager Richard Bowen promised when the school project was initiated.

Chairman Philip K. Allen told the Selectmen that he was concerned about the possibility of jeopardizing the school proposal, and other members agreed unanimously that it is of prime importance for the public be adequately informed prior to the August meeting. Mention was made of the fact that acquisition of the site for this school was delayed because questions were left unanswered at the first of the two Town Meetings it took to get authorization for purchase of the land.

Allen said further delays would mean postponing opening of the school which is scheduled for September, 1968.

Prompting consideration of an immediate Town Meeting was the fact that if Andover passes up the opportunity to negotiate a contract with the MBTA before commuter service is suspended, it risks the possibility of court action if it later decides to agree to the subsidy.

Town Signing Library Contract

The sub-regional contract between the town of Andover and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will be signed today at 2:30 p.m. at Memorial Hall Library.

Signing will be the Honorable Richard J. Sullivan, chairman of the Board of Library Commissioners for the Commonwealth; Richard J. Bowen, town manager, for Andover; Mrs. Dudley Fitts for the Memorial Hall Library board of trustees and in the absence of the board's chairman, Daniel Frishman. Also representing the library at the ceremony will be Miss Miriam Putnam, director and Arthur J. Anderson, associate director.

The contract provides reimbursement to the town for inter-library loan and reference services, starting July 1, 1967. Memorial Hall Library offers such services, as a sub-regional center, to some twenty-five neighboring libraries located in northern Essex County.

Summer School Opens July 5

The Andover Summer School will open its doors July 5, offering a program of academic and enrichment courses for high school and elementary students.

G. Arthur Danforth, director, said this week that he has already enrolled about 200 young people and that he expects to more than double that figure within the next two weeks. A total of 475 attended the summer school last year.

The high school program includes courses such as Latin, French, algebra I, plane geometry, English 7, 8 and 9 which students may take for either make-up or review. Also included are courses such as personal typing, remedial reading, developmental reading, study methods, and pre-algebra; these are designed to help the student in his future schooling. Driver education, both behind-the-wheel and the book course, is being offered to children who are 15 years and 9 months old by July 1.

A course of interest for students in grades 7 through 12 is art. No art training is required, and the objective is creativity for fun. Elementary classes will be held at West School. The first session, which runs from July 5 to July 14, will include Audubon science for fifth and sixth grades at 8:30 a.m. and third and fourth grades at 10:38 a.m. Art for third and fourth grades will be taught at 8:30 a.m. and for fifth and sixth grades at 10:38 a.m. This allows children in these grades to take the enrichment program as well as the academic program, which will start at the beginning of the second session.

The academic program, which begins on July 17, is for children who need to strengthen a weak background in mathematics, language skills and reading.

Summer school brochures may be picked up at the High School, Junior High School, Memorial Library and at any elementary school.

Once completed, they should be returned to G. Arthur Danforth, Andover High School.

Teaching positions are open for both the elementary and secondary art program and Danforth is also seeking an elementary reading specialist.

BOARD DELAYS

State law provides that if it can be proved that the growth of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority cuts into the business of other carriers, they may sue the community negotiating the MBTA agreement. The town manager explained to the board Monday that contracting to continue the present service would not constitute grounds for a suit. But, he added, if the service is interrupted, the town might expect legal action by Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. EMS would presumably gain passengers for its Andover-Boston buses if the train were discontinued and could consequently claim damages if it lost this gain following reinstatement of rail service.

The manager suggested to the board that in arriving at a decision, it should not consider just the some 40 commuters directly involved, but the long-range effect it could have on the town to have one of two means of public transportation to the community eliminated. Selectman William Stewart said he believes a check of statistics would show that more Andover people now board MBTA's rapid transit cars in Reading than take the train locally. He suggested that the train riders can do the same, but he added that he is willing for the matter to be brought before Town Meeting.

The board finally agreed unanimously that the transportation committee should be asked for a recommendation and that the question should be in the warrant for the August Town Meeting which is tentatively scheduled for the week of Aug. 21.

The MBTA has said that Andover's share of the deficit for service into this area would be $931. If Andover, North Andover whose share would be $180.35 and Haverhill (with a share of $627.23) fail to participate in a subsidy contract, the city of Lawrence will be required to pay $2,610 to have service continued to its station. The city council there voted Monday to negotiate a contract after meeting with officials from all the interested communities and agreeing with them that efforts should be made to continue the twice-a-day service now available.

The dialers, which store up to 1,000 names and telephone numbers and place any call at the touch of one button, will be produced locally.

Treadway Corp. is giving up its lease on Andover Inn June 30 and Jerry M. O'Donoghue, who has managed the inn for Treadway in recent years, will operate the facility on a profit sharing basis with the trustees of Phillips Academy. The trustees will hold the liquor license for the next few weeks until O'Donoghue, a native of Ireland, can be sworn in as a citizen of the United States.

Matthew W. Hanscom of 14 Moraine St. told the Selectmen Monday that the "town is not getting its money's worth" from the contractor responsible for sewer work along his street leading to the high school building site. He complained that the street has not been returned to its proper condition and is unsightly. He was told by the town manager that the street has been resurfaced and that the contractor will be held to the other terms of his agreement with the town before being released from bond.

Army Promotes Andover Officer

John C. Doherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. S. Doherty, 29 Juniper Rd., has received a field promotion to captain while serving with the Army in Vietnam.

Capt. Doherty, who has been on duty with U. S. forces in Vietnam since August, is currently attached to the 1st Cavalry Division taking part in Operation Byrd in Binh Thuan province. Prior to this assignment, the Andover man saw service in Italy.

The Army officer was graduated cum laude from Phillips Academy, Andover, in 1959 and also cum laude from Harvard University in 1963. He later received a master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh, Pa., where he was the recipient of a Marshall fellowship.

The Free Church Co-Op Pre-School had its final party of the term yesterday at the home of Mrs. Max Russell, outgoing president of this year's board of directors. The party was hosted by the parents of children who will celebrate summer birthdays. They were Maria Cavallaro, Laura Crossan, Rebecca Fuller, Jessica LaMontagne, Jason Russell, Marcia Spiegel, John Taylor and Douglas Taylor.

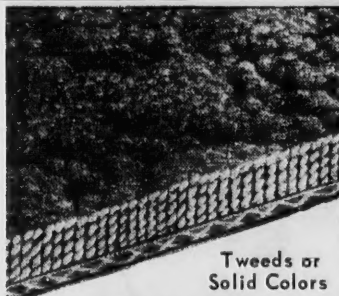

There will be a temporary change in staff at the Co-op when the school re-opens in the fall. Arrangements have been made for Mrs. Norman Viehmann to teach the 1967-68 term in the absence of Mrs. Thayer Warshaw who will join Mr. Warshaw on sabbatical in England. Mrs. Warshaw has been director-teacher for the Co-op since its founding nine years ago. Her husband is an English instructor at Newton High School.

The newly elected officers of the cooperative are Mrs. Eugene Leonard, president; Mrs. Bruce Johnson, vice president, membership; Harry Bedell, vice president, vice president, equipment; Mrs. Joseph LaMontagne, secretary; and Philip B. Marsden, treasurer.

Other parents participating next fall will be Mr. and Mrs. William Brick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cratty, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. David Gump, Mr. and Mrs. John Heeg, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Levinson, Mr. and Mrs. William Maren, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Miller, Mr. and Mrs. David Pinkney, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Price, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rees, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Der Zee and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Warren.

Abbot Girls Aiding Greek Family

The Greek village of Agios Georgios greeted a very special visitor last month - Miss Lucy Crane of Andover. Miss Crane, along with her classmates at Abbot Academy, initiated a sponsorship of a village family in 1963 through Save the Children Federation of Norwalk, Conn., and has been assisting the Aidinis family and the village since that time.

In 1963, the Abbot Academy

Class of 1966 requested a sponsorship of a Greek boy. This request initiated the sponsorship of ten-year-old Achilles Aidinis and his impoverished family. The unique child family community sponsorship which the girls undertook, is aimed at providing the parents with the means with which they can increase their income permanently and provide for their children without the continued need for outside help.

Achilles has been provided with the clothing and school supplies necessary so that he can continue his schooling. With sponsorship funds, he was able to finish his primary schooling, and he is now attending a technical school. This vocational training will enable him to find employment easily; unlike his father who, due to lack of education and vocational training, has known only poverty.

In the four years of the sponsorship, the Aidinis family has realized a vast improvement in their economic position. In the first year of the sponsorship, they purchased two goats. The animals provided milk and young for sale. This increased income enabled the family to increase their land holdings and realize new income from the additional sale of crops. Year by year, the family has added to their acreage and their livestock holdings, until today when self-sufficiency is near at hand. The latest report from the Greek Field Office states that with one more year of sponsorship, the Aidinis family will have stabilized their financial status - their dreams will soon be realized.

The village of Agios Georgios has also reaped many benefits from the students' sponsorship. With the funds provided by the students, together with those of other village sponsors, the villagers have undertaken a number of self-help projects. They have successfully constructed roads which have served to make many acres of previously inaccessible land available for cultivation and also to facilitate transporting their produce to market. The latest project undertaken by the townspeople was the construction of a medical examination center. Previously a dark, unsanitary back-room of a coffee house was used for the doctor's examinations. While sponsorship funds made the purchase of construction supplies possible, all labor involved was donated by the villagers.

ROY KNOTT IS AWARD WINNER

New England Telephone employee Roy A. Knott of 64 Lovejoy Rd., Andover, recently received a $25 award for his suggestion in the company's employee suggestion plan. Knott, who is a directory advertising salesman in Arlington, suggested a modification in advertising procedures.

Sydney E. Johnson

Miss Johnson Joining BBC

Sydney Elise Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Amy O. Johnson, 31 Bartlet St., received an AB degree from Vassar College at its 100th Commencement June 4.

Miss Johnson plans to work with the BBC in London.

Miss Johnson, a graduate of The Bartram School, Jacksonville, Fla., entered college with a scholarship from the North Florida Vassar Club and centered her studies in English. She served as chairman of the Student Work Program in her senior year.

Miss Haartz Will Tutor

Miss Karla E. Haartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl J. C. Haartz of 60 High Plain Rd., is one of ten Mount Holyoke College students who have been elected as resident tutors for this year's ABC program.

The eight-week summer course is designed to provide academic and cultural enrichment for girls from disadvantaged environments who have the desire and ability to prepare for college entrance. The program is designed to enable participating students to qualify for available college scholarships.

This year a counseling dimension has been added to acquaint the 70 ABC students with opportunities open to students in need of financial assistance. This summer's ABC program will run from June 26 to August 17.

The resident tutors, in addition to helping the girls improve their academic skills, are involved as well in planning social and cultural events and in assisting with sports and extra-curricular activities. They fulfill the dual role of friend and model in helping the girls adjust to group living in a college atmosphere.

Miss Haartz, a senior majoring in sociology, was a resident tutor in last summer's ABC program. For two years, she has been a member of the Holyoke Tutorial Project and has taught as well in a sports program. She is a graduate of Abbot Academy.

The only President to become chief justice of the Supreme Court was William Howard Taft. He was appointed in 1921 by President Harding.

LOCKJAW

Tetanus (lockjaw) is a deadly disease which may follow even "trivial" injuries!

Your doctor can give you years of protection against this disease with tetanus toxoid. If you are not immunized with toxoid, consult your physician about even "minor" puncture wounds or abrasions. Tetanus immune globulin (human) gives temporary immunity and can be used on even highly allergic individuals.

ANDOVER CO-OP

For Excellence in Home Economics

Donna Pepin is the winner of the CO-OP award which was established to honor the girl in the Senior Class at the Andover High School who has achieved the best record in Home Economics during the year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Pepin of 8 Fox Hill Road. Miss Mary Angus, the CO-OP General Manager, is presenting her with the check which goes with the award.

The CO-OP considers it a privilege to participate with our school in giving annual recognition to a job "well done" in so vital a field.

Seero Named Co-Captain

American International College's 1967 football co-captains will be center Ed Seero of Andover, and fullback Howie Shortsleeve of Rutland, Vt., AIC coach Gayton Salvucci reports.

Seero and Shortsleeves hold the rare distinction of starting all 18 games in their varsity careers, having been named to the starting offensive team in their first game as a sophomore two seasons ago. Seero is a graduate of Andover High School where he won letters in track and football and was invited to play in the Greater Lawrence All-Star game as a senior. A management major at AIC, Seero has served as a class representative in Student Government and is active in the Business Club and the United Protestant Fellowship.

Students Are Lettermen

Two Andover men have received varsity sports' letters at Amherst College.

James F. Brent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Brent of 11 Burnham Rd., received his second varsity baseball letter. He has been elected co-captain of the Lord Jeff for next year.

A 1964 graduate of Andover High School, Brent received the Outstanding Senior Student Athlete award, was president of the Varsity Club, vice president of the student council and sports editor of the yearbook and school newspaper.

Receiving his first varsity "A" was Ronald C. Kaczynski, who was termed the "most improved man on the squad," Kaczynski was the ace sprinter on the Amherst team, which won the Little Three championship this year.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles

S. Kaczynski of 75 Lowell Junction Rd., the sophomore lettered in football and winter and spring track when at Andover High and a member of the National Honor Society.

Kaczynski also won freshman numerals in football and outdoor track at Amherst, and this past winter lettered on Amherst's indoor relay team. He is a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity.

PINE MANOR IS VISITED

Mrs. Samuel S. Rogers of 49 Salem St., treasurer of the Pine Manor Junior College Alumnae Assn. board, attended the recent alumnae weekend on the Chestnut Hill campus.

Also attending, accompanied by her husband, was Mrs. Daniel T. Sullivan of Bancroft Rd.

Editorial Comment

A Wise Move

The Selectmen prudently avoided this week the opportunity to act in haste and repent at leisure.

The board met over dinner Monday to decide whether or not it should rush through plans for a summer Town Meeting in order to take measure of voter reaction to a railroad subsidy plan in advance of June 30 when the B&M will discontinue passenger service to Andover, Lawrence and Haverhill.

The hurried conference was a reaction to a Friday meeting of Merrimack Valley officials where there was general agreement that this area's rail link with the core city should be preserved.

But should Andover sign a contract with the MBTA for continued service? Should it put its Bancroft School proposal in jeopardy by calling a Town Meeting before the manager was in a position to deliver all the specifics promised in early discussions of the school project? Or should it risk potential legal complications with the MBTA and other carriers by delaying voter discussion of the train subsidy?

Members of the board were not unanimous in their attitudes toward the railroad question, some expressing the view that the limited number of commuters boarding the train here can, if need be, join those Andover people who already use the MBTA's rapid transit service from Reading. The manager pointed out the importance of looking at the train issue in terms of the long range detriment to the community rather than in terms of members. But he nevertheless agreed with the majority view that the fate of the Bancroft School must be of prime concern — this, and a school site article which is still to be drafted.

The design for the Bancroft School is drawn to fit changing concepts in elementary education; it is totally unlike any of the existing schools in Andover and must consequently be explained. Given time, the architect will be prepared not only to describe how he has created a building to fit school department specifications, but detail also plans for building materials. The manager needs the weeks between now and August to follow through with his plan to take bids and present for the first time in Andover's school building history, a complete school for consideration by voters.

After this town's past experiences with school construction, voters deserve the luxury of dealing with a clear-cut issue. Further more, they have proved in the past that they function most responsibly when adequately informed.

The Selectmen's decision to avoid interfering with the scheduled procedure, was therefore a wise one.

Addendum

There is nothing new about the train situation. It has been a spasmodic "emergency" for the last several years, one officials have tended to ignore between ICC deadlines.

The last time there was a flurry of activity, the Andover board tossed the whole subject into the laps of a transportation committee.

And when the ICC mercifully agreed to another extension, the board withdrew a 1966 warrant article which would have authorized negotiation of an MBTA contract and provided funds to cover the deficit incurred locally.

Now, apparently, the ICC means business. But this is no reason for Andover to take panic action.

It is time, instead, to wonder why the transportation committee and the Selectmen did not anticipate June 30, 1967 at the March Town Meeting.

For The Good Of Man

The list of organizations and corporations contributing scholarships to Andover High School graduates lengthens annually and the sums awarded become increasingly impressive.

How fortunate it is that so many groups have done away with plaques and statues and corporate gifts to customers, preferring instead to invest in living memorials to their activity, their ability to turn a profit or to the noteworthy achievements of former members.

Such an investment in the future pays dividends for the whole of society and should not go unnoticed nor unappreciated.

Read the list, it is in this week's issue of the TOWNSMAN.

Nature's Ways

Audubon Journals Perused

by Wayne Hanley

In 1842, John James Audubon stopped at the U.S. Hotel in Springfield, Mass., and declared it: "Undoubtedly the best public house I ever was at in America."

Since John James was a worldly itinerant, accustomed to laying his head on anything from a silk pillow to a rock, his judgment seems above question. Certainly, the observation applied to New England. He already had spent many days in Worcester, Boston, New Bedford, Taunton and such smaller way stations in Massachusetts as Plymouth, Hingham, Fairhaven and Newburyport. He had sampled the accommodations in Providence, R. I., and Portsmouth, N. H., in his travels through those states.

One of the exasperating things he had to deal with in most of those New England towns was the Yankee predilection toward temperance. New England had begun warring on demon rum and the short-tempered genius of presumably French descent was not prepared for such a drought. He spoke often and sometimes unkindly of the hotels which had become "temperance houses" and remarks of Worcester's hotels: "All the houses here are purely temperance houses." A friendly Worcester lawyer, Isaac Davis, however, invited Audubon to his home where he had "a hearty supper, drank a glass of good old Port."

While the towns that Audubon visited in New England between 1840 and 1843 are familiar today and the names of families he visited remain the prominent names of our era, the natural landscape has changed radically. Audubon commented upon his trip up the Connecticut River from Hartford to Springfield. The trip was made on the steamer Agawam and the fare was 50 cents.

"I saw," he said of the Connecticut River trip, "people hauling the seine and catching large and good looking sturgeons. . ."

We mention these peregrinations of Audubon because the week which brackets May 10 is Audubon Week. As is typical for most "weeks" of official stature, the period has nothing whatever to do with the person or institution honored. Audubon always chose summer, autumn or winter for New England visits — never spring. The May 10 period for honoring the great naturalist was chosen years ago because sometime around that date great waves of warblers pass through New England.

At Worcester in 1842, Audubon in his search for patrons walked at least six miles to call on 10 persons "for here the rich are far asunder." In Providence, the rich lived closer together and had more interest in his monumental "Birds of America". His journals are laden with the names of Providence subscribers to the work, among them Gov. Fenner, Brown University and President Wayland.

At Nantucket, Audubon had the phenomenal luck of selling 18 portfolios in six days. Since the price was $1,000 a set — and the dollar had many times its present purchase power in those days — this was quite an accomplishment as well as an indicator of Nantucket's wealth.

More typical of Audubon's luck was his experience at Portsmouth, N. H. He wrote, on leaving: "But alas! Poor Portsmouth, I left it at one o'clock, and without having obtained a single subscriber! Everyone pitied me, and I pitied everyone!"

The obvious thing to do with Carmel Woods is to turn it over to the Conservation Commission. I strongly urge that the proper Town officials insert an article to this effect in the warrant for the next Town Meeting. That will settle the question of Carmel Woods once and for all, and remove the temptation to take over this fine park and conservational area for some other use.

I am sending copies of this letter to the Board of Selectmen, the Town Manager, the School Committee, the Planning Board and the Conservation Commission.

School Committeeman William J. Doherty and his mother, Mrs. William J. Doherty, 21 Harding St., left yesterday on a motor trip to Canada.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

According to the press, Carmel Woods is again being suggested for a school site. But Selectman Sidney P. White is quoted as pointing out "that the cost of developing this hilly terrain could exceed the purchase price of a really suitable lot"; and it is also reported that "in conversations after the meetings that none of the officials involved really regards Carmel Woods as suitable for a school."

I fully agree with Mr. White and the others in their judgment. The U. S. Geological Survey map of this area shows that from the start of Carmel Woods on High Street to their top there is a vertical rise of 110 feet.

So far as I know, Carmel Woods has never been officially designated as a park, and thus it would not require an act of the legislature to permit it to be diverted for other purpose. However, many people have long considered Carmel Woods as a park and as a desirable part of our open space in Andover. It is well wooded, and its interesting terrain amply qualifies it for such uses.

Andover has recently voted $250,000 to buy land for conservation. While we are thus spending large sums of money to buy more land for this purpose, does it not seem the height of folly to take fine park land we already own and use it

A young Andover artist is exhibiting for the first time this month at the Shattuck Gallery in Lawrence.

Hung will be the work of 18-year-old Miss Brightman, a senior at Andover High School. She has just completed her first year as an art student at Lawrence. Her work includes oil paintings, watercolors, pastels, and crayon sketches. The show will run through July 15, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m., free.

Interested in the beginning of the career of Miss Brightman, a recent training and exhibition from Miss Brightman at Andover High School during her year at a secondary school. From two summer Academy's visit course.

Following graduation from Andover High in 1966, she enrolled at Clark University, affiliated at the Museum. Because of her interest in portraiture, she is more "traditional" in art, however, she is in September at the Boston University Art School.

Miss Brightman is an art eventually an abstract expressionist designs.

A Young Artist Has Her First Show

A young Andover artist is exhibiting for the first time publicly this month at Showcase Cinemas Gallery in Lawrence.

Hung will be examples of the work of 18-year-old Carol Brightman of 57 High Plain Rd. who has just completed her freshman year as an art student at Clark University. Miss Brightman will be showing oils, pastels, ink, pencil and crayon sketches, water colors and collages. The show will continue through July 5 and is open daily, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Admission free.

Interested in art almost from the beginning of her schooling, Miss Brightman received significant training and encouragement from Miss Frances Dalton of the Andover High School art department during her years at the local secondary school. She profited also from two summers of Phillips Academy's visual perception course.

Following graduation from Andover High in 1966, the young artist enrolled at Clark University and affiliated at Worcester Art Museum. Because of her intense interest in portraiture and the more "traditional" approach to art, however, she will begin study in September at the School of Fine Arts, Boston University.

Miss Brightman plans to teach art eventually and to paint professionally as well.

Her first show ranges in scope from portraits and still lifes through imaginary scenes to abstract expressionist and "op" designs.

Senior Data Is Released

A total of 117 of the some 266 graduates of Andover High School will attend four-year degree-granting colleges and universities. This figure represents 45% of the Class of 1967.

Sixty-three students or 24.23% of the class will attend junior colleges, business schools, technical and professional schools.

The total number of students already admitted to schools and colleges beyond the secondary level is 180 or approximately 69.23% of the seniors, according to a report filed with the School Committee last week by William Iggo, director of guidance. Fourteen have their admission to a school or college pending.

Twelve members of the class are recipients of scholarships totaling $57,160. This does not include the more than $8000 in local scholarships awarded at graduation.

Weekday School Graduates Six

The Weekday School of Biblical Studies graduated six students Sunday at the annual recognition service held at Christ Episcopal Church.

In the class were Janet E. Cromie, John Danforth, Elizabeth - Ellen Hills, Carole Moodie, Kristin Nelson and Jeff Schirmer. Seventh and eighth graders completing the course of study received certificates of recognition and eight students received honors signifying a straight "A" record for work throughout the year. They were: Stephen Jenkins, Pamela St. Clair, Donald Coleman, Bradley Kent, Janet Cromie, Elizabeth Ellen Hills, Deborah Knowles, and Kristin Nelson.

Featured speakers for the Sunday service were winners of an essay contest held this spring for each grade.

Stephen Jenkins' essay on "Moses: Leader and Lawgiver" won the 7th grade contest. Winners of the eighth grade contest were Bradley Kent, whose subject was "Jesus Christ as Portrayed in the Gospel of St. Mark," and Miss Hills, whose essay was "I am Jesus of Nazareth."

The keynote essay of the evening was read by John Danforth, the 9th

Physicals Required

All students in grades 3-7-10 in the public school are required, by law, to have a physical exam during the next school year.

Students who participate in any varsity sport are required to have a physical exam annually.

Physical exam forms and dental certificates have been distributed in the schools during the past week.

Students who do not return a physical exam form by Oct. 1, will have the examination done in school by the school physician.

The school department reports it would like to have a physical and dental report on each student in the junior and senior high school at the beginning of each school year.

ACC Plans Curriculum Revisions

Plans were revealed at the annual meeting of the Andover Council of Churches for revision of the curriculum of the Weekday School of Biblical Studies, a Council project.

In addition, Rev. J. Edison Pike of Christ Episcopal Church reported that an adult division is to be created for the school which has been operated for 23 years as a program for junior high school students only. Rev. Pike heads the council's Christian education committee.

Going into the new program for the ninth grade course in some detail, Rev. Pike said a workshop format would be used, with field trips and research projects. A team of teachers including Rev. Pike, Miss Nancy Howard, director of Christian education at Christ Church, and Mrs. Edward Gordon will teach the course and special lecturers and consultants will be obtained throughout the school year.

One project for ninth graders will be the production of a sound filmstrip on the life and times of King David. In addition, a script, costumes and set will be designed as an exercise in religious drama, with students taking part in the preparation and presentation of a play.

The adult course, Rev. Pike reported, will be taught at the same hour as the release-time classes, on Tuesday mornings, by the professional director of the Weekday School. A $5 tuition charge will be made for the adult class, which is to provide instruction in the Bible equivalent to that of a college course.

The Weekday School and a much-expanded youth committee program are key items in the council's 1967 budget which was voted at $2900.

The annual meeting, elected Rev. Robert E. Bosdorf of Ballardvale United Church president, and Keith Gould of South Church, vice president. Mrs. Edward Gordon of Christ Church was named secretary and William Ash of South Church was re-elected treasurer.

Mrs. Margaret Berger of Faith Lutheran Church was elected to the position of director of women's work. The youth committee of the Council will be headed by the Rev. David Allen of Christ Church and Rev. Thomas Delpho of South Church, Retiring President Dr. Robert Haag was elected chairman of the Gov. Phillips Fund and former council president, Rev. Pike, was elected chairman of the Christian education committee.

Mr. Pike was also named to represent the Council on the Community Action Council. The publicity director will again be the Rev. Hardland H. Gifford of Faith Lutheran Church and Charles Shattuck Jr. of Andover Baptist Church will represent the local Council at the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

Formally recognized was the presence of three observers from St. Robert Bellarmine and St. Augustine's Roman Catholic Churches.

Couple Plans Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wood, of Gladwyne, Pa., announce engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Rutter Read, to Mr. P. Howe, son of Prof. and Mrs. P. Howe, of Ithaca, N.Y. Miss Read is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sweeney, Andover, and of Mrs. William D. Read, of Conshohocken, and late Mr. Read.

an alumna of the Shipley School, Wellesley College, Miss Read is studying for her master's degree at the University of Denver. Mr. Howe was graduated magna laude from Harvard University and is studying for a PhD at University of California at Berkeley.

The wedding will take place Sept. 1, at St. Christopher's Church, Gladwyne.

Obituary...

JOHN F. HIGGINS
John F. Higgins of 412 S. Main, died early June 11 at Phillips Hospital, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston.

born in Lawrence, Mr. Higgins attended Boston University. He was for many years engaged in the construction industry as vice president of Central Construction Co., Lawrence, and he was involved with the development of the Lawrence Industrial Park.

member of the Salem Country Club, Mr. Higgins was also a member of the Bon Secours Guild, of Merrimack and Lawrence. He attended St. Augustine's Church, Lawrence.

Surviving are two sons, John G. Higgins, Jr., of Andover, and J. Laurence Higgins, of Andover. Mrs. Laurence Higgins, of Andover, is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Maureen O'Connor, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and Mrs. M. Carole O'Connor of Manchester, N.H., a sister, Margaret Higgins of Lawrence; a brother, Frederick A. Higgins of Andover; 15 grandchildren and a niece. The funeral was held Wednesday at a high Mass of requiem at St. Augustine's Church. Burial was at St. Augustine's Cemetery.

For safety on the waters of our Commonwealth water skiers must have an observer as well as a pilot. The towing boats, warns William H. Green, state director of motorboats. They must have a ladder to climb into the boat. They must be at least 150 feet away from other boats. That is the law.

Mrs. G. Michael Connolly
(Van Dyke)

Connolly - Lyons

White gladiolas and yellow daisies decorated the altar at St. Augustine's Church for the May 27 marriage of Sharon Ann Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lyons of 30 Washington Ave. to G. Michael Connolly, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Connolly, 111 Chestnut St.

Rev. James A. Wenzel, OSA, officiated. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza over taffeta. The bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and the elbow length sleeves were trimmed with lace ruffles. An A-line skirt with lace flounce fell from an Empire waistline and a detachable chapel length train completed the gown. Her headpiece was of matching lace with three tiers of French silk illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of bridal white roses and ivy. Miss Kathleen M. Connolly of Andover, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor. Her Empire gown was an aqua lace cage over taffeta with long sleeves. She wore a matching headpiece and carried white daisies mixed with ivy.

Wearing identical gowns were the bridesmaids, Miss Patricia M. Connolly and Miss Joyce E. Connolly, sisters of the groom and Miss Pauline F. Dunn of Quincy.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lyons wore a pink silk ensemble. The bridegroom's mother chose an aqua silk costume.

James Brennan Jr. of Andover was best man and ushers were Harold E. Libby, Thomas Leary and Edward Madden, all of Andover.

Following a reception at Sheraton Rolling Green Motor Inn, the couple left for a wedding trip in Montreal, Canada.

The bride, a graduate of Andover High School and Bryant-McIntosh Business School, is employed as an executive secretary at Prudential Insurance Company of America in Boston.

Mr. Connolly is a graduate of Central Catholic High School and Villanova University. He is with the field engineering division of IBM.

Convention Opens Friday

All of Jehovah's Witnesses in Andover and North Reading have been invited to attend a 3-day convention which is scheduled to be held at Nasson College, Springvale, Maine.

The convention will begin at 6:45 p.m. Friday, June 16 and continue through Sunday. "Adding to Our Faith Endurance," is the theme of the 3-day event.

According to spokesmen for the group, the convention has been arranged to highlight the importance of enduring during these critical times. Bible talks, skits and demonstrations will show how to analyze one's personal spirituality, how to aid those who are not so strong and what parents can do to strengthen the faith of those in the family circle.

More than 1000 ministers from 19 congregations in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts are expected to attend.

Boy Scouts

Boys in Cub Pack 74 from West Elementary School participated in a Field Day at Andover Recreation Park Saturday afternoon.

Making arrangements for the outdoor event were Donald G. Craig, cubmaster; James H. Eaton III, assistant cubmaster; Richard Page, committee chairman; and Edmund Lafleur and James Nicolosi, game committee.

The Cubs trounced their fathers 10-7 in a kickball game.

Winners in an obstacle course race were Peter Blake, first; Jeff McDowell, second; and Jim Robinson, third.

Your choice of floor coverings is one of your most important decisions when you are building, remodeling, or redecorating your home. For the latest in floor coverings of all kinds, visit Lawrence Rug & Linoleum, located at 278 South Broadway in Lawrence, next to the Registry of Motor Vehicles. Mr. Greska, Mr. Trask or Mr. Gosselin, all floor covering specialists, will be happy to advise you and help you with your selections.

At the present time, the biggest news in the floor covering field is the Ozite Carpet Tile of the amazing Vectra Fiber now on display at Lawrence Rug & Linoleum. Ozite Carpet Tiles have the same kind of durability as Ozite Town 'N' Terrace Carpet, the original, proven outdoor-indoor carpet, except that these new carpet tiles are for indoors. Here's a carpet that can take hard wear, won't rot or mildew. It's ideal in the bathroom and in below-grade recreation rooms because water can't hurt it.

Each Ozite Carpet Tile has a soft rubber back. Each is a full 12-inches square for easier installation. Simply cut into shape, with a sharp knife or scissors. Ozite Carpet Tiles bring new warmth, comfort and quiet to the kitchen, den, recreation room, bath or nursery. You can even put them on ceilings and walls.

No matter what your floor covering needs are, Lawrence Rug & Linoleum can take care of them. Specialists will be happy to go to your home and give an estimate on any job. Just call them and ask to have samples brought to your home to help you in matching your color scheme. There is absolutely no obligation. They have a beautiful selection of wall-to-wall carpeting, room-size rugs, vinyl flooring, Ozite Town 'N' Terrace indoor-outdoor carpeting by the yard, and of course, the new Ozite Carpet Tiles.

For the finest in floor coverings that not only look well, but wear well, make your selection at Lawrence Rug & Linoleum, 278 South Broadway in Lawrence. If you wish to have a free estimate or have samples brought to your home, call them any time at 683-3151.

Team Reading, A Plan For Summer Fun

Team Reading

Miss Elizabeth Russell, supervisor of work with children, announces innovations in the summer reading fun ahead for patrons of the children's room at Memorial Hall Library. This summer there will be several teams playing the reading game. Each child who has completed at least the first grade is eligible to register for a team assignment. Registrations will be accepted in the children's room starting on June 26. No registrations can be taken before that date. After registering, each boy or girl will be assigned to a team. As in other years, books will be suggested by the librarians and a child will be expected to read and report on as many as ten books while the game continues.

Sept. 1 is the cut-off date. By then all oral book reports will have to be completed in order to earn points for the team.

Each week during the summer there will be special collections of books for the youngest members which include grades 1 and 2; for the intermediate readers in grades 3 and 4; and for grades 5 and 6. Within each category the books will be "child-approved." It is a fact that adults may guess, but the children really know exactly what they like. With selection by the librarians from the best of books for children, and with the stamp of approval of the boys and girls, it is expected that this year's summer reading will be highly enjoyable and probably an outstanding reading experience.

Summer Club

Mrs. Martha MacCausland, using the same selected collection of books for boys and girls, grades 1 through 6, will have a clown club for individual readers who have been in grades 1 through 6 during the past school year. Each child on registering on June 26th or June 29th at Ballardvale branch will receive a clown card. As books are read and reported on to Mrs. MacCausland, the reader will receive spots for the clown's suit at the rate of one spot per book read and reviewed. The summer club period is June 26th to September 1.

Summer Hours

This week summer hours started at Memorial Hall Library. All departments at the main library will be open on weekdays, Mondays through Fridays. The library will be closed on Saturdays until the fall.

Open hours in the adult and young adult departments are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. The Children's Room is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Ballardvale branch is open as usual from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays.

New Books

The recent heavy shipments of new books reflect the expenditures of supplemental Federal funds under the Library Services and Construction Act. New books listed below indicate areas being strengthened with these monies. At the same time, popular fiction and other titles are being purchased from regular funds. If your interest is other people, may we suggest?

Smith - NO LANGUAGE BUT A CRY (What can be done, where to go for help, for disturbed children)

Kaplan - A SOCIAL PROGRAM FOR OLDER PEOPLE

Fishbein - MODERN WOMAN'S MEDICAL ENCYCLOPEDIA (The health of women and babies)

Pryor - NURSING YOUR BABY

IT'S ENORMOUS! This was Manager Richard Bowen's comment after his latest visit to the Bancroft Reservoir construction site where, above, the first concrete was poured on Friday. The underground reservoir has to be big to hold the six million gallons of water it will hold ready for distribution throughout the most populous areas of the town. (Cole)

Corps Seeking Volunteers

The Commonwealth Service Corps is looking for Andover volunteers to work with its area program for migrant farm workers.

Needed are adults or mature teenagers (17-19) who can work evenings five nights a week teaching Puerto Rican farm workers everyday English. The Corps pays such volunteers $80 a month.

In addition, the Service Corps is interested in unpaid volunteers who can work for shorter periods, drive teachers to the farm-centered classes etc.

The program begins June 18 and will be conducted from 4:30 to 10 p.m. five nights a week through the farm season.

A Corps spokesman says that the purpose of the migrant workers' program is to dissolve some of the fears people have of each other when they have little association with one another. He explained that many Puerto Ricans, for example, feel that Americans regard them simply as economic units.

By teaching the workers simple English, the Corps makes it possible for the migrants to become more mobile i.e. call a doctor, shop downtown and visit with people they meet.

Richard Reardon is the area coordinator, operating out of an office in Peabody House on Phillips Street at Phillips Academy.

In addition to the study program, the Corps will organize ball games, picnics, fiestas and the like for the workers on nearby farms.

School Is Winner Of EEI Prize

Andover's High School building committee chairman, Robert McIntyre, received the Edison Electric Institute All-Electric Building Award for the new school at a dinner meeting of electrical contractors held at the Merrimack Valley Motor Inn, North Andover, Thursday evening. The presentation was made by Edward G. Twohey, vice president and regional executive of Massachusetts Electric Co.

This award is bestowed on a building of distinction for both its design and its potential for offering assurance of sound value, timeless design, and lasting satisfaction. All of the vital energy requirements of the award-winning building are supplied by electricity, including heating, cooking, lighting, water heating and refrigeration.

Clarence E. Chapman Jr. of Andover, division commercial sales manager, served as master of ceremonies for the program.
